I've had many great ideas but I'm going to tell you about my best one. It was Friday and I was chatting with my friends. Then it came to me. "I think we should write a play!" I said. "That's a great idea!" said one of my friends. "Let's do it!" said the other. So we got started. First we thought of the name of the play. Then we thought about what should happen. After that we thought of characters' names and descriptions for the characters. Then finally we thought of the script. It was super fun! I haven't finished the play yet. But I'm working on it. If the play is a success I'm thinking of making it a movie! But first I need to do the play. I still need to get more people to help with the play. Well that's my story I hope you enjoyed reading it. Have a good day! ☺❤
