The magical dragon

Ben's life wasn't as magical as he seemed. He always imagined ^{having} siblings but that hadn't happened. All his other friends never played with him because they had brothers and sisters. Ben knew something had to change. One night after Ben's parents Joanna and Sam went to bed he crept out the door and down the stairs. With his tote bag in one hand and hat in the other he was ready. As Ben walked he found a forest and started walking in. While the journey continued he stumbled across a magical castle. Not having slept in a while he curiously knocked on the door. To his surprise a magical dragon answered the door. It spoke and said in a deep voice "How can I help you young man?" My name is Harold. Ben said, "Is there any way I could stay here over night?" Of course you can. As he stepped into the castle he was amazed to see what was in front of his eyes.

It wasn't just any castle but a magical one with lots of beautiful dragons. Ben settled into his room for the night he got a wonderful surprise, one of dragons had offered to be his roommate. At first he was scared but after awhile of talking with Johnny he just knew they'd be long time friends. Ben had never had so much in his life. In the morning he got a wake up call when Johnny's alarms suddenly went off. He stop it and they both got up ready but it was also the day Ben had to leave. They farwelled him but as he was leaving he opened the door and saw his family for him outside. "What are you doing here?" Ben said as he hugged his family. "Harold actually one of my friends and I told him you were coming. Every week Ben got to go visit Johnny and all the other dragons, that was the best time of his life. They were just like having siblings.
