

The Portal To Victory! | Date: 26/7/24 | No.

In a lovely house there lived two cute guinea pigs named cookie and coll. Cookie loved food and Coll loved makeup. One day, they were reading a super cool book about healthy grass munches. When they got to the back of the book there was a small galaxy swirl moving around. "I wonder where it leads to!" said cookie. After a few seconds, cookie and coll went through the portal. The portal was crazy! "Aagh!" yelled cookie and coll. They landed on a fluffy potato chip. They looked around. There were gummy people, giant chips and a really big bucket of melted cheese. This place is super dooper gigantic! Screamed coll as a gummy person introduced himself. "Hello my name is Steve the Gummy!" said Steve, "And this is Anno Land! Have a look!". Cookie and coll found a nice affordable hotel to stay for the night. They ate some hot chips for dinner. "Wow these are delicious!" exclaimed cookie. The next morning was strange. No festive music, no chip bell ringing for breakfast and no cheer leading. Suddenly a big lava monster was crushing and destroying buildings! "E! AM HWNGRY!" yelled the monster. Cookie and coll was thinking very hard for a plan. Suddenly coll got an idea! she told cookie her plan. Together they joined big chips with sticky cheese and wrapped it around the lava monster. Then cookie and coll wrapped the monster so hard the lava monster exploded! "YAY!" yelled cookie and coll in victory. A while later, all the Anno Land people were celebrating again. When they got home they hid

the special book away under the book shelf. "I had a great time in Anado land," said coll changing into her PJs. Cookie didn't reply, as he was busy sleeping on his cosy bed. The End!