Ralph and the misunderstood dragon

Ralph the knight was travelling to a magical place called Craghorn. In Craghorn there was the most magnificent castle but the castle was home to a dragon! He arrived and said to the guards "Where is the dragon? I must slay it!" The guards answered "In the dungeon." Ralph went to the dungeon and saw the dragon. But this dragon looked upset, so Ralph asked "What is the matter?" The dragon replied "I am misunderstood, everyone thinks that I will harm them." "Well not any more! I will tell the whole town the news and how they you are nice and gentle."

Ralph said. Later that day Ralph told the whole town and now the dragon had lots of new friends. Now the dragon was happy!
